Accidents And Deaths Mount In Glades During Past Week

Many homes where preparations had been made for a happy holiday season had their plans dashed and disrupted by the cruel hand of death as a result of numerous accidents which occurred in the Glades during the past week. Seven families faced the harsh reality of the tragic loss of a beloved father, brother, mother or other members of the family. Many more homes were saddened by accidents involving loved ones and friends.

With the approach of the New Year, it is hoped every precaution will be taken to make it a happy one for all... drive safely and soberly... with tempered speed. Remember, fatalities stalk our highways.

Commissioners Will Act As Advisory Board

Operation of Belle Glade's newly remodelled Municipal Country Club and Golf Course reverts back to City management following a decision of the Commission at Monday night's meeting.

A motion to "junk" the Golf Commission was carried by the Commission with Mayor LeBron Williams opposing the only opposing vote. Golf committees had dwindled out with the resignation some months ago of two of the members. Policy making will now be handled by the City's Commissioners and duties carried out by the City Manager.

"We will make every effort to operate these facilities in a manner pleasing to the people and give them something to enjoy and be proud of," City Manager Tevis Hugely said Wednesday.

Independent Firm Takes Over City Garbage Collection Service

A Belle Glade firm, South Florida Sanitation Company, has been awarded the franchise from the City of Belle Glade to service the city with garbage collection, beginning January 1, 1965.

Approval to turn the garbage collection job over to the independent agency was given a majority vote by the commissioners at the Monday night meeting. It is believed a more efficient operation will be possible under this program and at a saving to the city, City Manager Tevis Hugely said.

W. L. Cunningham, Jr., is general manager of the South Florida Sanitation Company, and as a 32 year resident of Belle Glade, knows the area well.

For the past 16 years Mr. Cunningham has been associated with the produce business, and prior to this career was in service with the U. S. Air Force. He graduated with the first graduating class of Belle Glade High School.

"We believe we can improve the quality of service, and if our customers will bear with us during the transition period, we know we will please them," Cunningham said.

Company has purchased all new modern equipment — the best money can buy, according to the management. "We will continue using all City personnel, so no one's job is in jeopardy," Cunningham said. He explained that the all enclosed trucks the company has purchased will not be here in time to begin operation, but are expected within a few weeks. Meanwhile, the firm has purchased three of the City's garbage trucks to use temporarily.

Value of the City's trucks was arrived at by taking an average price from bids submitted from two Belle Glade firms, Ron Marlowe Ford, and Glades Equipment. The Sanitation Company paid in excess of the city's stated price.

City Officials And Employees Enjoyed Santa's Visit

A festive Christmas party, arranged for City of Belle Glade employees, commissioners and their wives, was enjoyed last Wednesday evening, when 109 gathered at the newly remodelled municipal Country Club, for the first such get-together in many years.

Santa Claus, impersonated by Toby Shiver, found gifts for all under the beautifully decorated tree. The dining room was made most attractive with tables set up in cabaret style, each covered with a red linen table cloth and centered with a miniature Christmas tree and candles. Felt Christmas tree cut-outs around the windows, and the tables were decorated with a gold Christmas arrangement flanked by two tall gold candles.

A refreshment hour was enjoyed from 6:30 to 7:30 in the lounge, where an array of hors d'oeuvres whetted the appetites of the group. The long refreshment table was covered with a red cloth and red net overskirt and decorated with white glittered Christmas trees.

Old Santa, carved from a 300 pound block of ice, added festive decoration and an interesting conversation piece. This work of art was provided by Roger Leveaux.

Decorations committee Virginia Anderson, Renee Leveaux and Blonnie Parrish, who received help from many of the city employees, received abundant praise for the festive atmosphere.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever; its loveliness increases; it will never pass into nothingness. —John Keats

Read Isaiah 61:1-4; Romans 14:5-12

The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me . . . to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord. (Isaiah 61:1-2).

As I listened to this text being read by our chaplain, one phrase burned into my mind—"the acceptable year of the Lord." I could hardly listen to the sermon that followed for thinking what miracles might be wrought if one community, or even one church group, would dedicate all actions toward making every year acceptable.

The year 1965 is at hand, and many of us are making New Year's resolutions. Why not make just one, a resolution that will be the "Year of the Lord?"

It would mean many things which Isaiah mentions. There would be intolerance of evil. More than that, there would be a complete rebuilding and repair of lives and areas that are now wasted and desolate. Beauty would replace ashes. Rejoicing and praise would replace sorrow and discontent. Each person would fulfill his obligations to his neighbor, his community, and to his nation in such a manner that God would approve.

PRAYER: Lord, we dedicate the year of 1965 to service in Thy name. Grant us vision of purpose, wisdom in action, and faith that Thou wilt sustain and strengthen us for the work Thou wouldst have us do. In Our Master's name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

We rejoice in the coming of 1965 and will work to make it an acceptable year of the Lord.

Father Loring Called To Serve Cathedral Parish In Orlando

The Rev. L. D. Loring, priest-in-charge of St. John's Cathedral Church, 225 North West Avenue G, Belle Glade, and Holy Nativity Church, 1020 North Main Street, Pahokee, has been nominated and called to serve as canon in residence at the Cathedral Church of St. Luke, 130 North Magnolia Avenue, Orlando, Florida. Saint Luke's is the Diocesan Cathedral for South Florida Episcopalians.

Father Loring was nominated by the Right Reverend Henry I. Lottitt, Bishop of South Florida, presented by the Cathedral Dean, the Very Reverend Francis Campbell Gray, and approved by the Cathedral Chapter. He will assume his duties as canon of the Cathedral parish the third week of January, 1965.

Now in his fourth year in Belle Glade and Pahokee, Fr. Loring, his wife Eileen, and two children, David and Laura, leave many friends and memories to the Glades. However, Saint Luke's Cathedral is "home in many ways to Fr. Loring. He was baptized and confirmed, met his wife and was married while a layman there. He went to seminary to study for the priesthood from the same parish, and was ordained deacon there upon completion of his studies. His background was rather varied and interesting before his vocation to the priesthood was realized. A native of central Florida, he was born in Sanford, and attended public schools there.

Choosing professional art as a vocation, he followed his schooling and work in the same in both Florida and New York, mixing his practice in varying areas from comic strip cartooning to theatrical motion picture art director. While a layman in the Cathedral parish and Orlando, he was also an active lay reader in weekday and Sunday services, and assisted in many of the artistic endeavors in the beautification of the Cathedral interior. While in the Cathedral parish his vocation to the priesthood was realized, and he entered the University of the South in Seawater, Tennessee.

STRENGTH OF OUR DAYS

Put love first. —(1 Cor. 13:13).

We may speak in the tongues of men or even of angels, but if we are without love, we are merely sounding a gong or a clanging cymbal. We could have the gift of prophecy or be able to move mountains but if we have no love, we are nothing. And the greatest measure of our love should go to God.

INSTANT MAGIC

There's magic in these sands of time, and as a child you were bewitched with endless fascination as you watched the grains sift from one glass sphere into another.

But as you grow older, the hourglass begins to have a different significance. Now you see the grains of sand as passing time—almost as if it were being snatched away from you. And there is a kind of desperation watching it go.

Why? Because never again can we recapture these minutes, hours, days!

But let's not bemoan the passing of time. Let's determine to take advantage of those grains of sand which we still cup within our hands. It's really never too late to begin again. God has revealed this important fact of life to us again and again throughout His teachings. Discover it for yourself by going to church.

Witnesses Return From Convention

Solomon Milligan, presiding minister of the Belle Glade West Unit Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, and the majority of his congregation returned today from a circuit convention in Fort Lauderdale.

"The convention was an outstanding success in every way," Milligan said, "my fellow ministers and I are eager to give of the benefits received from the convention for the good of our community."

According to Milligan, a crowd of 1,114 were both delighted and impressed by the special showing of a two-hour color film produced by the Watch Tower Society. The film took the viewers on a tour around the world in company with Jehovah's Witnesses showing what is being done to counteract the world trend toward spiritual decline and moral decay. It also demonstrated the unity that can exist among people of all nations when their interest is centered primarily in the worship of God.

Milligan said the climax of the seminar was the feature of the Watchtower Society, James A. Thompson, Jr., a district supervisor of the Watchtower Society. Thompson spoke on the subject "Our Divided World — Is It Here to Stay?"

The audience numbering 1,449 listened intently as Thompson commented on the cause of the division in the world. "It is not the racial or economic difference that cause the division," Thompson said, but the selfish ambition that characterizes mankind today. Thompson said that the endless arguments in the United Nations coupled with the strife between the Democratic and Communist powers makes the division in the world appear permanent. "Christ Jesus, the King and Judge, will take steps to destroy those at disunity," he warned. The speaker then informed everyone present that if they desired to live in an undivided world of God's new era under Christ, they "must work hard to meet God's requirements."

Milligan said 23 were baptized by complete immersion in water in symbol of their dedication as ordained ministers of Jehovah God.

Labor Shortages In Florida Expected With Peak Harvest In Jan. - Feb.

Announcement that the U. S. Dept. of Labor plans to launch a massive recruitment effort to fill seasonal farm jobs in Florida, California, Arizona and Texas brought the prediction from a Florida Fruit & Vegetable Association spokesman that the drive would confirm the existence of widespread labor shortages.

Evenings

New Classes Begin At PB Jr. College

The evening division at Palm Beach Junior College is offering several new courses to enrollees in the winter term. The Division of Engineering and Technology has a course in Civil Drafting DG 20 which involves the mapping of routes and rights-of-way. Profiles and Topographical Mapping is a continuation of DG 208; also a course in Line Transistor Circuits EL 216 is now available for those who want to know more about AC behavior of transistors and their associated circuits. The associated laboratory work will provide the student with an opportunity to apply the knowledge which has been learned in the classroom. For the musically inclined a music theatre workshop designed to acquaint the student with skills and music theatre as well as acting and singing is being offered. Excerpts from appropriate repertory is to be used in the application of these skills and techniques. This is a non-credit course.

Another course which is to be offered for the first time in the evening division is Journalism 101, a Survey of the Mass Media. This is a non-writing type of course which studies the problems facing the press. Special emphasis is placed on newspaper, radio and television; their requirements and opportunities and their responsibilities to the public.

Registration for the Evening Division is at 7:00 p. m. on January 4, 5, and 6. Admission applications may be obtained at that time.

"We'll gladly accept an help they want to give us, even though we don't expect much in the way of results," said W. H. Anderson, Jr., manager of the FFTA Labor Division.

Anderson cited recent findings of the Florida State Employment Service that farm jobs are going begging in most active farming and citrus area and pointed out that independent efforts by farmers and growers to recruit workers have yielded disappointing results. He explained that he expects the federal agency will try to talk farmers into raising wages even higher than now required by the labor agency's regulations.

"They would like to claim that labor shortages could be overcome with higher wages," Anderson said, "But wages have limbed in every segment of our industry for several years and our shortages continue to accrue."

Florida fruit and vegetable growers already pay all workers in their hire a minimum of 35 cents an hour. Sugar cane growers pay at least $1.15 per hour, with the average worker earning substantially more than these minimum wage levels.

Anderson said that about 13,000 foreign workers are now employed throughout Florida agriculture on a supplemental basis. Several thousand more domestic workers are expected to come to Florida after the holiday season as in the past, he expected to become severe with the approach of peak harvest operations in January and February.

Some crops, Anderson explained, including sugar cane, could set record production levels if harvests can be completed without losses.

Fire Arm Permits May Be Curbed

A move to investigate all applicants for gun carrying permits was in the making this week.

The county commission Monday instructed Attorney Harry Johnston to confer with the Sheriff's and County Solicitor's office to determine if investigative procedures could be established.

The board learned that a recent action had authorized a permit for a man previously convicted of a felony.

The commission said it believed investigation of all ap-

Commissioner E. F. Van Kessel, a long time advocate for the purchase of compact cars, succeeded this week in delaying purchase of several large size passenger vehicles until commissioners have had an opportunity to study results of a state survey on use of compacts.

moves when he joined the commission was to team up with Commissioner Ed Bandlow on an action which emphasized the purchase of compacts whenever possible.

This week, requests were made for several large size autos but the board delayed giving authority to make the purchases until such time as the survey can be studied.

Commissioner Van Kessel also suggested this week that county authorities investigate the possibility of renting passenger cars.

Oil Production Near Felda Maintained At 300 Barrels Per Day

Property Owners Ponder . . . "Sell Or Hold On To Land"

"There are no secrets now concerning what we are doing or what we are finding in Florida," said R. L. Hughes of the Sun Oil Company, who with Walter Irwin, Geologist, is in charge of the new oil field at Felda, Florida.

Prior to the discovery of oil in the Felda field late in June, the Sun Oil Company had drilled 72 dry holes at a total cost of $10,322,557.00 of which $7,447,410.00 went to land owners for leases. The test wells were drilled in many areas extending from the Pan Handle to the Southern tip of Florida.

The Felda field is an entirely new field, though not many miles from the Sun-niland Oil Field where the Humble Oil Company has been producing oil for a number of years.

The company has drilled three wells in this area, the first of which is not a producer although a drill test revealed 1800 feet of oil and 8400 feet of salt water. According to Mr. Hughes they have hopes of making the first well a producer when experience has been gained on other wells in the area.

The first producing well is known as Red Cattle No. 2. When it was determined that it was a producing well it was copped, and the news of its discovery was not released until October 9, 1964, during which time the company completed the leasing of a block of more than 108,000 acres of land.

Red Cattle No. 2 proved to be a flowing well producing 204 barrels per day until a low of some 100 barrels flowed daily. After several weeks, treatment with acid brought a return flow exceeding 200 barrels per day. Since then a pump has been installed and production is being maintained at 300 barrels per day. Although this well would produce much more, production will continue to be limited for several reasons, one of which is that excessive pumping could result in drawing in salt water.

The drilling of Red Cattle No. 2 required thirty eight days of drilling. The wells are expected to average 30 days.

How many wells are to

R. L. Hughes, Superintendent of drilling for the Sun Oil Company stands beside the giant rig of the Empire Drilling Company as work starts on the fourth well in the New Felda Oil field.

be drilled? The answer to that is not known but they expect to discover the field area which can only be done by drilling. This will mean several dry holes. When the perimeter has been outlined then wells are expected to be placed in each 160 acre tract until the entire field is covered.

"There is only one way to determine where oil is located and that is with a drill bit," said Mr. Hughes. "The Seismograph tells us some things about the earth's formation but it does not discover oil," he continued.

Wells in this area are not the deepest or the largest known but they are not so small either. On Sunoco-Felda Unit 32-2 well, which is being started this week, a 30" casing has been driven to a depth of 80 feet through the unstable surface soil from which a 20" casing will follow the drill bit to 160 to 175' then a 13 3/8" drill to 1500 feet from which a 8 5/8" drill continues to a depth of approximately 11,500 feet.

What happens to a community when oil is discovered?

For answers to this question this reporter visited with friends of many who own property within 1800 feet of each of the two producing wells and the two in progress.

Each acre within a quarter section where a well is located draws its proportionate share of royalties. Small land owners within these hot areas are in an enviable position and are faced with a difficult decision as to when to cash in. My friend has been offered $1,300.00 per acre for rights to his royalties within a limited area. Another small owner has leased his land for $80.00 per acre per year which means he will draw this amount as long as a well is producing in his quarter section. This could mean that he would draw $50.00 for royalties and $30.00 for lease on each acre until the lease holder chose to get out.

wishing you special joys, with your loved ones, throughout 1965.

Happy New Year From The Latin Colony

anced same and gave greater participation of quotas.

In 1960 there were only three sugar mills: Clewiston, Okeechobee and Fellers. The two latter ones belonging to companies with Cuban capital.

The last years of extraordinary expansion were due to the falling of Cuba under the Communist regime of Castro, which motivated that the United States cancel the importation of Cuban sugar.

The quotas increase produced in order to secure the provision of the market, attracted new investments and the organization of cooperatives, who with the help of progressive banks fomented new sugar mills.

It was also a contribution to this progress the Cuban immigration in exile. Many of them had been sugar mill owners, managers, engineers, machinists, Chief of fabrication, boiler, chemists, mechanics, agronomists, and in general every body knew the industry, as the majority of Cubans has been tightly linked to the industry through the 156 sugar mills operating in Cuba, called the Sugar Bowl of the World, with more than one century of intense development.

This enormous causal of technique and experience, was here within reach of the industry, precisely when it was expanding intensely in a zone where in spite of the centuries they had struggled so hard, very few were those who had had experience not only with sugar but in the industry.

This helped to foment the new mills, erected in:

1961 — Ocoeca, Florida

1962 — Moore Haven, Bryant Glades, Tallahassee, Serralle, 1964 — Atlantic.

From 110 acres which was the original planting in a sugar mill, we have advanced to more than 30,000 acres in crop. From a minimum gridding we have come to break the world record gridding in only one gridding tandem, of 8400 tons of sugar cane a day.

In Agriculture, Cubans helped much with their experience and technical knowledge of modern equipment, and even fomenting companies for clearing and preparation of soil.

These are the notes given to me by "uncle Pablo", and on my part I believe that in order to be able to read in these columns the excited sugarman who live in this zone. In order to thank him, I will start with "uncle Pablo."

De la Colonia Latina

Del azucar solo se que es dulce y que se saca de la caña de azucar. Pensando que me convenia saber un poco mas y para obtener alguna informacion de interes para todos que lean esta columna, pedi al Pablo, P. E. Bryant, que me llamara los amigos de sus hijas e hijos, me diera alguna informacion de lo que me gusto publico a continuacion:

LA INDUSTRIA AZUCARERA EN LA FLORIDA . . . Y LOS CUBANOS.

Ha de sorprender a muchos el saber que las primeras cañas de azucar que se sembraron en la Florida fueron importadas por el Gobernador Espanol Mendez, poco despues que fundo la ciudad de San Agustín en 1565. Hace casi cuatro siglos.

La primer azucar que se obtuvo en escala comercial fue fabricada en la Colonia de Nueva Smyrna en 1767, pero diez años despues la colonia se disolvió, destruyendose las instalaciones. Casi un siglo despues, entre 1850 y 1880, el mayor Robert Clewiston contruyo un ingenio en el Condado de Manatee, pero fue de querección y el fue-

86 pusieron fin a este tentativo. El nuevo intento de producción azucarera se realizo por el Capitán R. E. Rose en 1885, sembrando 110 acres en la zona de Okeechobee, cerca de East Lake, y asociandose con Hamilton Diston contruyeron un ingenio que molió 250 toneladas de caña de la fabrica en 1896. Al año siguiente se vendió la fabrica a un grupo de Cubanos que lograron ponerla en producción. Y la vendieron a mejicanos que llevaron la fabrica para su propia explotación posterior de fomento del cultivo de caña. fallaron por falta de variedad de caña apropiada, por falta de conocimientos suficientes en el cultivo de aguas.

En 1923 Mr. F. E. Bryant contruyo un ingenio en la zona de West Palm Beach en lanchones, pues aun no existian caminos en la zona.

Al fin de 1925 se fomento con éxito en la costa Sur del Lago Okeechobee siembras de caña y se instaló un ingenio en Clewiston que paso a propiedad de United States Sugar Corporation, la que invirtió grandes capitales para expansion del negocio.

No obstante, la industria azucarera en la Florida no progreso rapidamente, pese a la ayuda Federal y Estatal que dio mayor participación de cuotas y al financiamiento.

En 1930 solo habia tres ingenios: Clewiston, Okeelanta y Fellers. Estos dos últimos pertenecian a companias con capital Cubano.

El desarrollo extraordinario de los últimos años se debió a la caída de Cuba y al regimen Comunista de Castro, que dio origen a que los Estados Unidos suministraran las importaciones de los azucres Cubanos.

El aumento de cuotas que se produjo para abastecer el mercado, fue un aliciente para atraer nuevos inversionistas y para organizar cooperativas que ayudadas por Bancos progresistas, fomentaron nuevos ingenios.

Tambien contribuyó al progreso la inmigración Cubana en el exilio. Muchos habian sido ingenieros, administradores, técnicos, ingenieros, maquinistas, Jefes de fabricación, punteros, químicos, mecanicos, agrónomos y en general todos conocian la industria, ya que la mayoría de los Cubanos han estado estre-chamente ligados a la misma a través de los 156 ingenios que operaban en Cuba, que era llamada la Azucarera del Mundo, con mas de un siglo de intensa desarrollo.

Este enorme causal de tecnica y experiencia se puso aqui al alcance de la industria, precisamente cuando se desarrolló intensamente en una zona que a pesar de los siglos venia uhandose, pocos eran los que tenian experiencia, no solo en el cultivo, De una molienda en la industria.

Esto ayudo a fomentar lo nuevos ingenios que se construyeron en:

1961 — Ocoeca, Florida

1962 — Moore Haven, Bryant Glades, Tallahassee, Serralle, 1964 — Atlantic.

De 110 acres que fue la siembra original de un ingenio se le llego a mas de 30,000 acres en cultivo. De una molienda en la siembra se ha llegado a batir el record mundial de molienda por un solo trapero, de 2400 toneladas de caña por dia.

En la Agricultura tambien ayudo mucho el Cubano por su experiencia en su conocimiento tecnico de equipos modernos (motonetas inclusive) Compañias para el cultivo y preparación de tierras."

Estas son las notas que me dio "Tio Pablo". Por mi parte, estoy muy agradecido a los amigos de sus hijas e hijos, por haberme dado la mejor contribucion que aporta la experiencia Cubana, sugiriendome que yo diera a los azucareros que radican en esta Zona. Agradecida, empezare por Tio Pablo.

PABLO F. CARREÑO nació en 1893 de padre Espanol en la zona de Cuba. Estudió en Espana primero y luego en Cuba graduándose de Bachiller en el Colegio de Belén, en los que estudió en los cursos de estudios en el High School de Troy, y en la Universidad de Troy, donde recibió el título de Ingeniero Civil y el Sigla XI. En Cuba trabajo durante 30 años en la Industria azucarera, llegando a Administrador del Central Covadonga, de la Cía. Azucarera Joruma, que pertenecía a la familia Carreño, y que habia sido gobernado por Manuel Carreño en 1902.

Presencio la guerra construyendo ferrocarriles, puentes, almacenes, y siempre tuvo especial interes en mejorar los equipos y las construcciones de los ingenios de la fabrica y el campo. Diseño y construyó diversos equipos agrícolas e industriales azucareros. En 1950 se retiró y siguió trabajando en asuntos de diseños y transporte, y riego y desinfección de plantas construyendo equipos especiales de riego y almacenaje.

Llegó exiliado a esta país, con su esposa y sus hijos Manuel y Gonzalo de la Riva y su hija Gonzalo. Y el día de Pascuas se reunieron en su casa, con sus hijos Jorge y Ernesto, su mamá Mrs. Maria Beatriz, Zulalia y Jose Arguelles, Pilar y Jose Ramon Mendez Ford, y su hijo Luis Ramudo, Jose Arguelles y su fiancée Tessa Garcia, Maria Sanchez Balaer, Maria Arguelles, Jorge y Carlos Arguelles.

LUCY & CALIXTO GARCIA INIGUEZ, sus hijos Lucy y Rosa Elena, reunieron en su casa a Loli y Augusto Blanchard, Luisita y Carlos Arguelles, y sus hijos, Merida y Augusto Blanchard, Adela y Jorge Iglesias y sus hijos, Maria Adela Iglesias, Zeida y Tormes, Mayi y Carlos Rivas, Yoyi y Pepin Buono, Lourdes Corona, y Angela & Alberto Recio.

THE SUGAR INDUSTRY IN FLORIDA . . . AND THE CUBANS

Many of you would be surprised to know that the first sugar cane planted in Florida were imported by the Spanish Governor Menéndez, a little after he founded the city of St. Augustine in 1565. Almost four centuries ago.

The first sugar obtained on a commercial scale was manufactured at the New Smyrna Colony in 1767, but 10 years afterwards the colony was dissolved, and the installations were ruined. Almost a century later, between 1850 and 1880, Major Robert Clewiston, who founded a sugar mill in Manatee County, but the Secession War and fire put an end to this enterprise.

A new attempt at sugar production was realized by Captain R. E. Rose in 1885, planting 110 acres in the Okeechobee Zone near East Lake, and together with Hamilton Diston, they erected a sugar mill that grew 350 tons of cane a day, but it did not last much, and the mill was closed in 1896. At the following year the mill was sold to a Cuban group that never got the plantation into production, and sold it to Mexicans who moved the mill to their country.

Further attempts to foment sugar cane crops failed for lack of suitable cane varieties, plagues in the plantation and insufficient water control.

In 1923, Mr. F. E. Bryant erected in Canal Point a mill with capacity of 750 tons. It was a second-hand mill, and was transported from West Palm Beach by barge, because no roads existed in that zone.

About 1925 sugar cane was planted with success around the southern shore of Lake Okeechobee, and a mill was erected in Clewiston which became the property of United States Sugar Corporation. This Company invested great capitals for its expansion.

However the sugar industry in Florida did not have a rapid expansion, not withstanding Federal and Estatal help that fin-

PABLO F. CARREÑO born in 1893 of Spanish father and Cuban mother. Made his first studies in Spain, and then in Cuba, graduating from the Colegio de Belén High School. Here in the United States he studied English in a High School in Troy, and then graduated from Troy University as Civil Engineer with Sigla XI. In Cuba he worked for 30 years in the sugar industry, coming to be Manager of Central Covadonga, operated by Joruma Sugar Company, owned by the Carreño family, and founded by Manuel Carreño in 1902.

As Engineer he constructed railroads, bridges, warehouses and had always special interest in improving the equipments.

He arrived to this country, with his wife, Maria Campa de Carreño, in October 1961, after his children and grandchildren had left Cuba.

Because of his age it was difficult for him at the beginning to get a job as engineer. His first employment was a delinquent in a machine shop, which made him famous because he used to go to work riding a bicycle.

He did jobs with the Glades Sugar House and the Consultant Engineers Miguel Chinchilla y Arana. Since last June he has been in charge of the Plant City Steel's Sales Engineer.

Following the traditional Cuban custom of family union, Carreño spends many week ends with his sons Manuel and Pablo, also engineers who work in Florida and Fellers sugar mills. Occasionally he visits his daughter Alicia, married to Dr. Rene Albacete, Chief physician of the Gastroenterology Hospital in Washington; and his daughter Otilia, married to an American, Mr. Robert Pata, who resides in New York, from his children he actually has 3 all the Latin Colony Young set had lots of fun. WRONG ROAD

It is cynically charged that those who oppose fastening Medical care to the social security system are indifferent to the medical problems of the aged.

That is a cruel and malicious distortion of the fact. The arguments against marrying social security and Medicare—even though in a compromised form—are powerful and are based both on principle and on the irrefutable facts of life. To begin with, the cost would make it necessary to very greatly increase the social security tax. This would largely offset whatever benefits may come from tax reductions in other areas. And that tax, without Medicare, is periodically being raised now.

The governing principle in any medical aid to the aged program should be need. Medicare via social security would violate that principle—people of large means draw social security payments so long as they don't work at a job.

Another basic principle is that such aid should be administered locally by local agencies which understand and are close to local problems. That is being done now under a federal-state plan providing a wide range of medical services to the elderly who can't pay for them, which is gaining wider and wider use and acceptance.

Furthermore, surveys have shown that the medical problems of the aged have been greatly exaggerated. Very large numbers of them are now protected by the various voluntary insurance systems. And the medical profession, with the American Medical Association as its spokesman, has pledged that no one need lack medical attention for lack of means.

We want still better medical care for the elderly, and we are getting it. The social security approach is just the wrong road to a desirable goal.

It seems inexcusable to confuse the objectives of the social security law with the medical needs of the aged.

CAUSE FOR UNREST

Over the years, numerous surveys have been published illustrating the vast difference in living standards between this country and the communist nations. They commonly take the form of graphs, detailing the hours of work that must be put in to earn enough money to buy various kinds of consumer goods.

These comparisons have sometimes been criticized on the grounds that they cannot take into consideration the great differences in background, customs, availability of resources, geographical location and other factors that exist in the United States on the one hand and Russia on the other. But, it is significant to report, the comparisons work out in much the same way when applied to two nations without such differences, West Germany and East Germany—the first a capitalist state, the second pure communist.

A worker in West Germany earns enough wage in 8 minutes to buy a quart of milk—across the communist border it takes 18 minutes. The West German can buy a refrigerator with 10 hours and 56 minutes of work—his East German counterpart must labor 625 hours. The figures for a car are 1230 hours and 56 minutes and 6,391 hours and 18 minutes respectively. So it goes.

In the closing months of the Khrushchev era, there were definite signs that the Soviet government, plagued by consumer unrest, was leaning toward capitalist incentives, such as the once-enviled profit motive, in an attempt to spur production. One wonders if the new masters in the Kremlin will follow along.

A NEW LEAF OR A NEW LIFE?

By Lewis Llewellyn

"Therefore if any man be in Christ he is a new creation. Old things are passed away—behold, all things are become new."

"And all things are of God. Who hath reconciled us to Himself by Jesus Christ."

The beginning of the new year is the time when many of us make New Year's resolutions. Some refer to it as turning over a new leaf.

It is true that, as the old year is closed and the new year begins, we are presented with a new volume of 365 pages—if we live throughout the whole year—with all its pages blank.

The volume that is 1984 is closed. Some pages, perhaps, had blots on them. Some pages, perhaps, were splendid with work done or achievements recognized. But that is now past. The moving finger writes and, having writ, moves on. Nor all your piety or wit can lure it back to cancel half a line—or all your tears wash out a word of it.

What is past is irretrievable history.

Yet in the sight of God, turning over a new leaf is not the solution to life's problems. Not a new leaf but a new life is God's answer.

The Bible tells us that he that is in Christ is a new creation. Old things are passed away. All things are become new and all things are of God.

Turning over a new leaf is not enough. I turned over countless new leaves before I found Christ—only to find that, a short time later, the new leaves were just as badly stained and marred as the old ones had been. Many have had similar experiences.

Are you ready to give up the "New Leaf" approach and accept the "new life" that Christ offers you?

The new life cannot be attained by good works which we can do. "Not by works of righteousness which we have done but according to His mercy He saved us."

"The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

What better time to accept this new life from the hand of God than now—at the beginning of the new year 1985?

Uncle Dan Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I was reading some figures put out the other day by the Census Bureau that had ought to get us older folks shook up. It was announcing that 3.1 million boys and girls in this country reached the age of 17 this year and that it was around a million more than last year. Furthermore, they figure it will increase another million next year. And out of them 3.1 million getting to be 17 this year, 238,000 was now married, and 1 out of every 3 was already divorced.

And along with them figures, the FBI announced that teenage crime was at a all time high in the nation. For instance, post offices were claiming ball point pens was getting stole as fast as they could replace 'em and most of 'em was being took by teenagers. Anybody, Mister Editor, that would steal it of them post office pens was hard up for somepony to steal and it is a few packages. As we walked down the streets, we would stop frequently in small stores. All the people were extremely courteous, and were never insistent that we buy anything, and always smiling. We stopped at the International Church Book Store and talked to the woman in charge whose husband was a teacher in a Presbyterian College. We found copies of Guide, The Upper Room printed in English and also in the Thai language. On our free afternoon, we took a taxi to the Snake Farm—the science division of the Thai Red Cross Society. This covered a square block with four buildings. Thailand, being a tropical country, abounds with a great variety of snakes. Each year there are thousands of casualties caused by poisonous snake bites. This is the second snake farm in the world making tropical snake serum, and was opened in 1923. The main function of this Institute is the manufacture of vaccines and sera. The main building consists of offices. From here we went out under huge trees where two large oblong pits were filled with hundreds of snakes. Each pit was made like a moat, with land in the center with small trees where snakes were curled up with about 3 or 4 feet of water surrounding them. There was a six foot wall all around, but no roof, so you looked down directly into the mass of dozens of snakes with their heads up and staring at you—what a sensation! The cobra in repose has a round head, but can make it flatten out in a second. There was a group of Boy Scouts watching the snakes also. Beyond these pits is a building used as a sort of museum with all kinds of specimens of snakes, preserved in alcohol. I saw so many odd varieties of snakes, that I had visited many zoos before. Another building housed the horses used in preparing antivenom serum. This is prepared by injecting controlled doses of snake venom, until after about six or eight months the horse will be immune to the effect of a large amount of venom. There has to be special serum for each type of poisonous snake. For cobra serum is used in case of Viper bite. There are five different species of snakes from poisonous snakes. These include Cobra, King Cobra, Banded Rattle, Russell's Viper and Pit Viper. These are all produced at this Queen Savanah Memorial Institute and distributed to hospitals and health centers throughout the country, and some sent to distant lands that have these snakes. The laboratory attendants were all dressed in white and everything looked modern and clean. In the building where the horses were kept, we saw a lot of white mice in cages. These are used to feed the snakes.

I don't reckon they were much the general public can do about teenage marriage, divorces, and crime. This has got to be a problem for the parents. But they were one angle to this big teenage population explosion that has got to be met by the people.

Where was all them young'uns going to school? School houses and colleges all over the nation was being busted out at the seams and we got millions more coming on fast. As a nation it seems to me we was meeting this school problem from the hindsight position. We don't do nothing about it till the river gets to the banks then we patch the banks and wait till the next flood.

It makes me recollect a talk I had once with my banker. He said that most fellows that come in for a loan bases his worth on what he plans to do tomorrow but the bank has to figure his credit on what he done yesterday. In this problem of gitting teachers and schools for the millions of kids that was coming on, it looks like we was hoping too much for tomorrow and ain't done enough today.

Well, I reckon I better cut my little sermon on schools short. I might be like the politician that told the crowd he was cutting his speech short on account if he didn't some fellow had sent word he was going to cut his minister.

Actual, Mister Editor, I ain't got no license to discuss school problems, and I'm serving none right here I ain't running for the School Board. I didn't have but 5 grades when I was a young'un and I had more trouble gitting through the last grade than MacArthur had gitting across the Yalu River, but I believe mighty strong we got to educate these millions of kids that is coming along if a nation has the right kind of a nation.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Dan

The Orient Can Be Most Interesting

Two Belle Glade ladies, Ruth Woodworth and Edith Freudenfeld were privileged to make a tour of the Orient this summer, and their reports are shared with you. They were in Thailand, formerly Siam, and were in school to grow-up for the observations on the life of the Orientals and descriptive report.

THAILAND (Formerly Siam)

Edith Freudenfeld

There were a few stores along the water and we got out and found about the same things that were in the stores in the city. The things were attractive and well made, but there was always the question of what to do with the things when you got home. We saw the Royal Barges decorated in gold and red. There are sixty seven oarsmen in each barge. These are used by royalty once a year to take the King's offerings to the Temple. As we neared Bangkok we came to Wat Arun, the Temple of Dawn. This is decorated in a striking and unusual manner with shells and broken pieces of pottery and china. We were told that a ship came from England loaded with beautiful china, and was shipwrecked close to shore, so the broken china was used for decoration, and now when they need to repair anything, dish must be broken. The effect is lovely and panels of beautiful flowers are all around the Temple. There are many fierce looking statues to keep the evil spirits away. The steps up to the spire are extremely steep, so only five of us decided to climb up. There is a wonderful view of the river and the city of Bangkok. There is a narrow walk all around this, and going down was a 100 ft wide steep row after row of steps. It was so dangerous that we all held hands and came down cautiously.

One day we decided to walk to the Post Office to mail a few packages. As we walked down the streets, we would stop frequently in small stores. All the people were extremely courteous, and were never insistent that we buy anything, and always smiling. January Sales Save You Money

January sales mean opportunities to save money if you buy wisely, says Mrs. Gladys Kendall, Marketing Specialist, Florida Agricultural Extension Service. Sheets, pillowcases and blankets, small appliances, clothing and shoes, even tires and sports equipment will go on sale. Some stores have good sales of their Christmas cards and decorations just after the holidays. And some have store-wide sales, so be sure to watch the ads.

To take advantage of a sale rather than be taken advantage of, you're a wise shopper, Mrs. Kendall urges. First, know what you want and need. Aimless bargain hunting may mean you'll go home with useless buys. And know the original price of the merchandise to be sure you're getting a bargain. Examine the merchandise carefully. Check colors, size and condition of clothing. Try it on. Then consider the cost of repairing and cleaning soiled merchandise. Add this to the purchase price when you figure how much you're saving.

Inspect seconds and irregulars. Imperfect goods are reduced, but they shouldn't affect the service. Check guarantees and services provided. Price reductions shouldn't affect the manufacturer's guarantees and services on regular items. And, of course, follow your usual spending guides. If you're used to buying a certain quality merchandise for $8, you may get the same merchandise for less at a sale. Or you may get a better quality for the $5 you had planned to spend. Either way, you'll be saving, Mrs. Kendall points out.

Inspect seconds and irregulars. Imperfect goods are reduced, but they shouldn't affect the service. Check guarantees and services provided. Price reductions shouldn't affect the manufacturer's guarantees and services on regular items. And, of course, follow your usual spending guides. If you're used to buying a certain quality merchandise for $8, you may get the same merchandise for less at a sale. Or you may get a better quality for the $5 you had planned to spend. Either way, you'll be saving, Mrs. Kendall points out.

Diazinon controls most Florida vegetable insects.

Diazinon* insecticide is the only product you need to control most of the major insects of Florida vegetable crops. Here's the kind of "money-in-the-bank" program that Diazinon can provide: Diazinon simplifies your spray program. It reduces the need to use several different insecticides. You spray less when you spray with Diazinon. So you save time and money.

You kill insects quickly with Diazinon. And the "staying power" of Diazinon provides outstanding control of problem insects like aphids, Southern armyworms and leaf miners for a long time.

You can use Diazinon throughout the seasons. And close to harvest... without residue problems. So take advantage of the benefits of superior vegetable foliar insect control with Diazinon. Order dependable Diazinon 50W wettable powder, or Diazinon AG-50 emulsifiable concentrate, from your local supplier today.

Now - New Type VA Home Loan

M. T. Dixon, of the Florida Department of Veterans Affairs, states that the Veterans Administration is now recognizing a new concept of home ownership when it authorized GI loans in planned-unit developments.

In these developments, the home owner acquires title to the land on which the house is constructed and shares ownership to open land areas with other homeowners in the development.

Management of the open areas and recreational facilities is provided by a Homeowners' Association.

Through the assistance of GI loans, Dixon says, VA is extending to veterans the privilege of participating in this new type of home ownership.

2 Hungry Turkeys Attack Mail Men...

Two hungry domestic turkeys during the holiday season were not looking for Mail from the Belle Glade Post Office Department but were looking and watching for the Mail Scooter and the Mail Man.

It seemed that between Thanksgiving and Christmas these two turkeys for about three weeks were chasing and attacking Mr. William Masonic of the Belle Glade Post Office Department as well as other mailmen on the route.

After the Post Office Department notified the owners of the Turkeys of what had been happening either the Turkeys were locked up or someone had a good holiday dinner.

It even goes to show that Turkeys can be Occupational Hazards to the Mailman.
